19° the undertaking to supply the purchaser, at least ten days before the anticipated date of departure, with the following information :

vendor of his/her decision by any means that enables a proof of delivery to be obtained at least seven days before the start of the voyage. When the service sold is a cruise, this deadline is fifteen days. This transfer is not subject, in any case whatsoever, to prior authorization from the vendor.

Article R. 211-8

When the contract includes an express possibility of price revision, within limits set out in Article L. 211-12, it should mention the precise method of calculation, for both increases and decreases, in price variation and particularly for the amount of transport charges and related taxes, the currency or currencies that may have an implication on the price of the trip or holiday, the part of the price to which the variation is applied, the rate of the currency or currencies applied as a reference when establishing the price detailed in the contract.

Article R.211-9

When, before the purchaser's departure, the vendor is obliged to modify one of the elements that is essential to the contract, such as a significant price increase, and when the vendor disregards the obligation of providing information mentioned in paragraph 13 of Article R. 211- 4, the purchaser may, without prejudice to any recourse for compensation for any possible damages suffered, and after having been informed by the vendor by any means that enables proof of delivery to be obtained:

- either terminate his/her contract and obtain without penalty the immediate reimbursement of amounts paid;
- or accept the modification or the substitute trip proposed by the vendor; a rider to the contract detailing the appropriate modifications is then signed by the parties; any reduction in price is deducted from the amount that may still be due by the purchaser, and, if the payment already made exceeds the price of the modified service, the excess shall be restored to the purchaser before departure.

Article R. 211-10

In the case provided for in Article L. 211-14, when, before the purchaser's departure, the vendor cancels the trip or holiday, the latter should inform the purchaser by any means that enables proof of delivery to be obtained; the purchaser, without prejudice to any recourse for compensation for any possible damages suffered, obtains immediate reimbursement, without penalty, of sums paid from the vendor; in this case, the purchaser receives an allowance that is at least equal to the penalty they he would have had to pay if the cancellation had been made by him/her on that date. Provisions of this article do not, in any case whatsoever, obstruct the conclusion of any amicable agreement for a substitution trip or holiday proposed by the vendor and accepted by the purchaser.

Article R. 211-11

When, after the departure of the purchaser, the vendor is unable to supply a predominant part of the services provided for in the contract that represent a sizeable percentage of the price paid by the purchaser, the vendor must immediately make the following arrangements without prejudice to any recourse for compensation for any possible damages suffered:

- either offer services to replace the anticipated services by possibly bearing any price supplement and, if the services accepted by the purchaser are of an inferior quality, the vendor should reimburse the difference in price to the purchaser, upon his/her return;
- or, if no replacement services are proposed or if these are refused by the purchaser for valid reasons, to supply the purchaser at no extra cost, transport tickets in order to ensure his/her return, in conditions that may be deemed to be equivalent, to the point of departure or to another place accepted by both parties.

The provisions of this article are applicable should the obligation set out in paragraph 13 of Article R. 211-4 not be met.
